Mantana's Chief City to Welcome Three

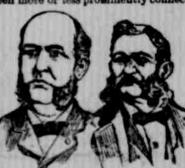

Three national conventions are to meet at Helena, with summer, the first being that of the Ancient Order of United Workmen, which will hold a eisten of nine days, beginning June 14.

To accommodate the expected visitors a large anditorium is being built. It is to have a frontage of 160 feet and a depth of 139 feet. Another portion, to be devoted to a public library, is 84 feet deep. The material used is brick and blue limestone. The shape is to be elliptical, with a floor space 61 feet wide and 100

Order of United Workmen expect that the convention will be attended by over 4,000 members and friends. Every plan possible will be adopted to make the stay of the visitors pleasant. There will be trips to the National park, jaunts to gold mines and visits to Broadwater natatorium, the largest swimming tank in the country. There, surrounded by fifth principal meridian in the counties all that is transful and entertaining, of Carter, Reynolds, Iron and Washingthe guests may swim and dive, romp the guests may swim and dive, romp ton the lines of east and west surveys and frolic beneath a sheltering roof to are deflected from the true course sevtheir heart's delight. He is by birth an Irishman, but lived in America since early youth. In 1578 he left New York city and went to Helena. In 1885 he was elected alderman from the Fifth ward, and the next ear was chosen mayor of the city. In 1887 he was appointed by Governor Hauser a member of his staff with the rank of colonel, and the same year be was made auditor of Montana, which cition he filled until the territory was mitted to statehood. Between the lowworn hat coming almost to the bridge of the nose and the high-setting, goo natured style where a great shock of hair or half a bald pate fronts the sweat-band, there lies a great diversity of character. The man of fashion has but one way in which to wear a hat. It reaches the top of the forehead and sets just a bit to the side.

Now, then, what will you wear this

For the man of fashion there are many styles. In fact they have come from England and France in such numbers that they threaten to overthrow the dietum of at least one long established and well-known American house, whose spring announcements have always been looked forward to by men of fashion as something akin to a royal pronunciamento. For the summer in light stiff hats everything will there-fore be in style and a blind man could hardly err. Taper crowns, full crowns, high crowns, low crowns, wide brims, narrow brims, flat set, roll and pitch, dish brim, D'Orsay, round, Hub, Stan ley or circuit curl are all in style and in any color. In soft felt alone there is an exception. The "tourist" cap seems to

A novelty from Paris is likely to have quite a run here this summer, I am told. It is nothing more or less than a "crush straw hat," after the idea of the Gibus opera hat. Top and brim are of the same material, but the band, like that of the "chapeau claque," is of silk, so as to give it flexibility. The silk used in this case, however, may be in any in this case, however, may be in any bright color, and the general idea is to furnish a straw hat which may be cked in an ordinary hat bag by a for transportation into the country. fabric men who have been selling rem nants of suitings to hatters now see matched designs of hats adorning the fashionable tile establishments.

Another new thing in derby shape is what is called a "mixed fur felt." The colors are the light ashy gray, prevalent in suitings, and the surface, though exceedingly fine, appears rough in imita-tion of the suitings they are designed to A new lining for bearings is reported from Germany as composed of a com-pressed vegetable parchment.

I was told in my meanderings of an odd investigation that was made at five leading street corners of New York by a prominent wholesale hat house. It was a question with them whether to throw a great mass of light derbys on throw a great mass of light derbys on the summer market and this is how they solved the problem: Ten thousand persons passed the given points in something less than an hour. Nine thousand derbys were noted. Of these 8,748 were round crowned and only 252

Ironing is rendered unnecessary, because the heat devel-oped by the friction against the rapidly-moving surface of the hat answers every purpose that the heated iron is

One of the prettiest soft felt styles in the market to-day is the Arion in black, wood brown, umber and pearl. The Yeddo is a pretty braided straw hat, with low crown and narrow brim.

The season was early and the weather hot; the battlefield was completely covered with crops ready for harvest, which caught quickly and carried the fire with terrific rapidity. The emperor had the plains searched by bands of cavalry, and vehicles were brought from Vienna to re-move the wounded, friends and fees alike. But few of those over whom the fire had passed recovered, and the sol-diers had a saying that straw-fire had killed nearly as many as gun-fire.— Chicago Tribune.

A Valuable Onal.

The most famous opal of history was that which was worn in a ring by Non-ius, the Roman senator, in the days of the triumvirate. In size it was sourcely larger than the average hazelout, yet its beauty was such as to render it the marvel of its time. The "money changers" and goldsmiths of Rome set its value down at $1,000,000. Mark Antony made overtures for its purchase, intending, it is believed, to present it to Cleopatra. Upon the death of Nonius history loses all trace of it, there being no record of its transfer from him to any member of his family.
